

“And ye shall seek me and find me when ye shall seek me with all of your heart.”

Jeremiah 29:13

I have this scripture verse written in the front of my Bible. It serves me as a reminder, that God is waiting on me. He is not millions of miles away, sitting on a throne in Heaven, unconcerned with me or my life. On the contrary, He is here and desires to fellowship with me, and help me, and guide me. But He has one stipulation... We must seek Him with all of our hearts. And in this lies the problem. So often we give pieces of our hearts away, we could not possibly seek God with all of our hearts. Friends, family, school, work, extra curricular activities, entertainment, and other relationships bid for our attention and time. If we do not prioritize we find that by the end of the day, we have nothing left to offer

God. Even in worship services, we only half heartily praise God. Our hearts and minds are in other places and not focused on the Lord. And yet we still wonder why God does not show up. If only we were to turn our passion and affection to God! What a difference there would be in our services as well as our personal lives if we were to truly seek God with all of our hearts. So I challenge you today, don't just offer God your leftovers, but all of your heart!
